Vladivostok, June 15.—Ataman emenoff is leaving for Grodekovo establish an anti-Bolshevik ront there. The Japanese au-horities, it is understood, are greeable, provided his activities re carried on outside the thirty erst zone.

Ataman Semenoff's departure or Grodekovo has been post-oned. His influence is waning, ven his supporters from Harbin re deserting him. The Kappel roup, under General Gludkin, in Nikolsk Ussurissk, until, now an rdent supporter of his, has an-ounced that it will recognise eneral Verjbitzky only.

The rumors circulated here hat Habarovsk was in flames rove to be incorrect.

The temporary Government an-ounces that Kamchatka is under he jurisdiction of the Maritime Government and that all conces-ions granted by Soviet Russia in his territory are null and void.

An unconfirmed rumor is in cir-ulation to the effect that the Chita Government has decided to oin up with Soviet Russia.

The plague here is diminishing. The total number of deaths to date is 445. Only 12 of the vic-tims were Russians, the remainder being Chinese. The largest death-roll in any one week was 95.

According to advices from Nikolsk Ussurissk, persons arriv-ing from Soviet Siberia state that peasant risings are general there. The railway is guarded by Chinese and Magyars, but traffic is constantly disorganised by rebels. Tobolsk is held by anti-Communists, and Omsk is being evacuated. Four anti-Bol-shevik formations are operating in the Irkutsk region.

London, June 15.—Replying to Commander Kenworthy in the House of Commons, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that the Government was unaware that the Japanese had in any way sup-ported the counter-revolutionary movement at Vladivostok.

(Dalta News Agency)

Harbin, June 14.—Merkouloff's Government in Vladivostok now has representatives in conference with the representatives of the Japanese Banks who arrived from Tokio to Vladivostok recently. These negotiations are now well under way, and are for the purpose of securing to "Merkouloff's Government" the loan of twenty million yen from the Japanese.

This money is needed by Mr. Merkouloff and his friends for the equipment of an army, and for expenses incurred by their "Government." The loan is to be secured by the giving to the Japanese as a guarantee for their twenty million yen the mining and timber concessions of the Maritime Province. The Japan-ese Banks are making the loan with much gratification, and the agreement is to be signed, it is expected in the next few days.

Chita, June 13.—The obliga-tory regulations of the Far Eastern Republic issued by Mr Kojevnikoff, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, have made a deep impression on both Russian and foreign business men. The business men are refraining from entering into relations with the rebels, pending further develop-ments, according to a well known business man.

Owing to troubles in Vladivos-tok, the export of grain, whic' began last month, has entirely stopped. In May 300 cars were unloaded at the docks daily, but now there are never more than ten arriving, sometimes less. The situation on the Ussuri railway is very critical.

Semenoff is surrounded by his followers, and is concentrating his forces in the vicinity of Vladivostok. Telegraphic com-munication has been established with his representative in Tokio, Mr. Okorohoff. On the 9th inst. the Semenoffists seized the wire-less station, and are now in com-munication with Ungern at Urga.

WAGE SLASHES DEFERRED, NEW STRIKE AVERTED

British Engineering Employers To Give Men Time To Vote

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—The Minis-ter of Labor is intervening in the engineering crisis and will meet both sides today.

In an endeavor to avert a stop-page, the employers have agreed to postpone the wage reduction notices until the end of June so as to enable the unions to take a ballot on the wages proposals.

London, June 15.—Singer's Sewing Machine Works at Clyde-bank will close down indefinite-ly on June 24 on account of the coal shortage. Ten thousand peo-ple will thus be rendered idle.

London, June 16.—The dispute in the cotton industry appears to be within sight of settlement, following upon a meeting of the joint conference of employers and operatives which decided to recommend an immediate reduc-tion in wages of 3s. 10d. in the pound, and a further 7d. at the end of six months.

Up to the present the result of the miners' ballot on the question of accepting the coal-owners' terms is as follows:

For acceptance 35,626 votes against 101,902.

In view of the fact that the returns to hand do not include those from districts like South Yorkshire, where a favorable majority is indicated, it is prob-able that the requisite two-thirds majority against acceptance will be narrowly averted.

Osaka, June 16.—A novel strike has broken out in Kyushu, where a thousand tenant farmers are refusing to cultivate their land unless the rents are reduced by from 15 to 20 percent. The land-lords are uniting to protect their interests, but the movement threatens to spread to other ten-ants, and this becomes a serious matter, because the rice trans-plating season is approaching.

The various strikes in Osaka continue, and there are no signs that a settlement is in sight.

French Women Urge Passage Of Suffrage Bill

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 15.—M. Briand yesterday received a deputation from the French Woman's Suffrage League and the Union Fraternelle des Femmes. Accompanied by various prominent politicians, the deputation asked the Premier to see that the Woman's Suffrage Bill, recently passed by the Chamber, was submitted as soon as possible to the Senate.

M. Briand replied that he would submit the question to the Cabinet and would be at the disposal of the Senatorial Commission during the debate on the subject.

BIG CROWD SEES AMERICAN SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Exercises Held In Masonic Hall Amid Beautiful Decorations

REV. A. N. ROWLAND SPEAKS

This Year's Graduating Class Comprises Ten Members

The fifth annual commencement exercises of the Shanghai American School, held at the Masonic Hall on the Bund yesterday afternoon, was marked by an impressive yet simple ceremony, an attendance of friends of the school which filled the hall to its capacity, and the offering of fine tribute both to the school and to the ten graduates of the class of '21.

The hall was tastefully decorated in evergreen, with a central flower scheme of lillies, arranged to form the significant figures: "1921." Sixty to seventy lower class stu-dents of the school assisted in the exercises, in choruses of song, under the direction of Mrs. Frances W. Adams, music teacher of the school. A final chorus, just prior to the benediction, was concluded with the unfolding of the American flag.

The graduation class, with their schoolmates marched to the plat-form at the beginning of the service, in a slow, effective processional. They ranked on the stage for the opening song. All of the girls were in simple white, with a touch of color in the hair ribbons which they have not yet outgrown, and in the sash which seemed to be in popular favor.

The invocation was said by Dr. J. T. Proctor. He gave thanks for the forces which make commence-ment exercises possible; he asked for guidance for the ten graduates who are going out into the world for the first time to meet everyday life, and prayed that their efforts should be richly rewarded and fruitful of results.

REV. ROWLAND SPEAKS

The commencement address was given by the Rev. A. N. Rowland, minister of the Union Church.

He took the two words: "Com-mencement Exercises" as his text, and analysed their meaning and their significance. The word Exercises, he said, suggested the Puritan—it had for its meaning "painful," "taking pains" and "greatness." He quoted the great-ness of Napoleon, and the "little Corporal's" acknowledgment that "taking pains," and exercises had served muchly in equipping him for his giant task.

Algebra and Greek he pointed out, while both might oftentimes have appeared as but useless and aimless drilling, were but the exercises of schooldays that would make the solving of modern problems of everyday life the more simple. He compared the study of these difficult lessons to the Roman Legionary who before battle exercised with a sword much too big and heavy for him so that in real battle he might be free of movement and apt to meet the foe.

Fashions and the tendency of womanhood to lead in the fads of the moment, the Rev. Rowland urged, should be held always as secondary to a study and keen consideration of plain beauty. He pointed out that the styles of Napoleon's time would be consider-ed ridiculous today—that the frills of twenty years ago were fortunate-ly forgotten. He explained to the school girls that they must remem-ber that their own children twenty or more years hence would ridicule even the styles of today. The beauty of life, and of its living, he said, was the everlasting thing—it was always in mode, and forever beautiful.

A BIT OF UNITED STATES

The word "Commencement", the speaker continued, was a bit of the United States itself—a very ap-propriate word for a graduation ex-ercise. It implied, at once, the commencement of serious life. It was such a better thought than the Old English idea of "Finishing" school. Americans, he said, were but English, of the real old stock with a bit "plus" added. The "plus" he said was a "dash," very typical of Americanism. In Eng-land Education is always struggling with medieval traditions, always set within the shadows of the cathedral, always given to class consideration, and the result was a top dressing of mode, of music and of manners. This, he said, was their "finishing." But the "finishing" of school, the speaker continued, was in fact the "commencement" of life, the beginning of serious study and consideration of all that makes life worth the living.

"Your world, thus far," Mr. Row-land said to the graduates, "has been a united one. You have had a common motto, a common esprit de corps, a sense of living for and in and with others. Now, that is

IMMIGRATION SOLUTION

Coolies To Be Barred, But Rights Of Japs In America To Be Protected

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, June 16.—It is understood that a settlement of the Yap controversy with Japan has been effected on the basis of the internationalisation of the cable privileges there.

As regards the question of Japanese immigration into Amer-ica, it is proposed to prevent coolie immigration, but to pro-tect the existing property and rights of Japanese in America.

It is further proposed that Shantung shall be returned to China as soon as possible, with-out the matter being referred to a European tribunal, Japan only retaining the privileges shared in common by other nations in Shan-tung.

JAPAN'S FINANCE CHIEF HAS NEW PLAN FOR CHINA

Suggests Jap Guarantee For Foreign Loans To Peking

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 15.—The Minister of Finance, Viscount Takahashi, interviewed by a representative of the Kokusai News Agency, with regard to the statements recently attributed to him in the press to the effect that he advocated an economic alliance with China and the rendering of financial assistance by Japan even at the risk of breaking the Consortium, said: "The need of financial as-sistance for China is urgent. If Japan can extend help in a man-ner acceptable to the other mem-bers of the Consortium this should be done. Japan's policy in vis-a-vis China must be based on the principle of mutual help and co-operation, aiming at the economic development of the Orient. Everything possible must be done by Japan, even to the withdrawal of her troops from China, in order to remove suspic-ion or distrust.

"China's political and financial position is at present most un-stable but efficient help cannot be extended from the countries of the West without adequate security. Japan's peculiar posi-tion demands special action be-cause Japan is vitally interested in China's recovery.

"My idea is that the Japanese Government should undertake to guarantee the payment of any foreign loan to China. This is quite practical and I believe would be acceptable to the other members of the Consortium."

JAPS HAVE MADE 20 MILLION LOAN TO C.E.R.R., REPORT

Peking Hears Nipponese Have Tied Up Chinese Eastern Railway

PART OF BROAD PLAN

Sun Hsiao-lien, Director Gen-eral, Resigns, Capital Hears

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, June 14.—Persistent reports in Peking today that the Japanese had given a loan of $20,000,000 on the Chinese Eastern Railway and that Mr. Sun Hsiao-lien, Director General, had resigned, tended to confirm the opinion in the minds of many observers, that Japan is deter-mined to get full control of that railroad. It is said that the ultimate aim is to link this road up with the South Manchurian and Kirin-Hweining lines in a broad program of Japanese com-mercial development in China.

If the loan has been signed as reported, China's hope of strong commercial activity in that zone must pass. Mr. Sun became the Director General last fall under the terms of an agreement be-tween the Chinese Government and the Russian interests largely represented by the Russo-Asiatic Bank in Peking. China was to have ample voice in all directing affairs, several Chinese were to be in the important business and the line was to be run on a strict business basis.

Since the agreement was sign-ed, the road has done a heavy business in spite of the lack of equipment which was pressing and which limited the profits.

Dispatches from Vladivostok some days ago prophesied such a move. The correspondents in Vladivostok said that soon as order was restored in the Mari-time Province and Japan was in control of the situation, she would at once work for control of the Chinese Eastern Railway. She is already reported to have no-minal control of the other lines that are in the hands of the Kap-peists who overthrew the Vladi-vostok regime.

The conditions of the loan as reported today are that $3,000,-000 of the amount is to go to the Fushun Mining Company, a Japanese concern, owned by the South Manchurian Railway. This mine has for some time supplied coal to the Chinese Eastern and has been unable to collect, it is said.

Of the loan total, $5,000,000 more is to be used to pay arrear-ed salaries of employers and lesser officials and $5,000,000 for rolling stock which the road so badly needs. The remainder will be used for general operating ex-penses and in efforts to get the road on a more business like basis.

Payments of the installments of the loan will be completed in July, it is said.

Mr. Sun, according to reports, told H. E. President Hsu Shih-chang that the duties involved in the management of the road were too heavy and he also said that the road was dominated by militarists. It was presumed at first that he meant the Chinese militarists. Since the overthrow in the Mari-time Province, however, the Russians are said to be taking a greater interest in the road and Sun may have been referring to Russian reactionaries who are seeking to get positions.

The details of the reported loan were not given out from any source. One thing appears clear to Chi-nese interests, however, and that is what the Russian reactionaries who had complained that they had no traffic facilities for getting sup-plies to Urga, Kiahkta and other points, will no longer be hamper-ed.

Husband "Too Handsome To Work," Wife Wins Divorce

CONTENDING that he was "too handsome to work," Mark Fox, a young Los Angeles Apollo, according to his wife's complaint, asked to be relieved of the res-ponsibilities of matrimony. Mrs. Fox, as the result, sued for divorce and was awarded a decree in Los Angeles the other day. "The daily grind of earning a living for me and my son didn't appeal to him," Mrs. Fox told the judge. "If he thinks his beauty is deserving of support he can find someone else to continue his upkeep. I'm sick of it." The couple were married four years ago and in that time Fox, according to Mrs. Fox, has contributed little to the support of their home. The photos show Mr. and Mrs. Fox and their son De-Witt.

One Of The Best Organised Businesses Here Is—Begging

BY ELSIE McCORMICK

IF you've ever visited the Na-tive City, you've probably observed a little, gnome-like man with a face that would fit one of the beneficent elves in a fairy tale and a laugh which he might have stolen from Friar Tuck. It is doubt-ful if a tourist party ever wound through the streets of idols, fans, and bird-cages that flank the Willow Tea House without finding that the old man had invited himself to join the group. Though he exhibits no deformities, he is reputed to be the most successful beggar in Shanghai and one of the most influential members of the Beggars' Guild.

Begging in this city, as in the rest of China, is an or-ganised business with a code of ethics as rigid as that of the medical profession. The largest guild of panhandlers in Shang-hai has its headquarters in the Temple of the Daughter of Heaven on North Honan Road. Here the beggar chief and his office staff tabulate reports of shops about to open, discuss terms for furnishing bearers to funeral processions, and arrange casualties for free-lance Knights of the Open Plam who have invaded territory occupied by the guild.

NOT TOO BASHFUL

Whatever else may be said of the Shanghai beggar, it must be admitted that he is not a piker. Long ago he gave up the slow process of amassing a fortune a cash at a time to turn to the more thickly petall-ed fields of blackmail and ex-tortion. He still sits by the wayside or keeps pace with rickshas, of course, but this phase of his work is rapidly becoming a side-line.

Whenever a wedding, funer-al or other important house-hold event is about to occur, a representative of the guild calls on the family concerned and intimates that a little cumsha will be as welcome as a roast pig to hungry ghost.

If the family imitates Wash-ington on the Delaware and comes across, a little red paper is affixed to the lintel headed by the name of the Chinese Republic and informing who-ever is concerned that adequate payment has been made. If the householder replies that his personal treasury is as empty as Mother Hubbard's pantry, the feast in question will be invaded by shoals, swarms, and fleets of beggars, who will enter the premises, steal food, balance furniture on their noses, sing ditties that would shock M. Rabelais, and otherwise curdle the party.

The merchant who opens a new shop must also cross the beggars' palms with silver if he wishes to prevent his cus-tomers from being driven away by constant annoyance. Most shops in the city set aside all the so-called beggars' cash, valued at one-twentieth of a cent, and hand them out to the mendicants' shroff on the first of each month.

THEY HAVE A GUILD

The Beggars' Guild also feeds its coffers by a monopoly on the carrying privileges in wedding and funeral proces-sions. The best man or chief mourner, as the case may be, must arrange with the beggar chief for an adequate number of bearers. If non-union mendicants are engaged, it would not require a fortune-teller to predict a number of mishaps to the procession. A peculiar feature of the beggars' code is their absolute honesty in transporting elaborate wed-ding gifts or presents for the dead. They never betray their trust when given articles of value to carry, but if men out-side the fraternity are engaged as bearers, beggars along the route will work out some re-markable problems in subtrac-tion.

Shippers and godown keepers are also prominent on the beg-gars' calling list. A wharf or steamship company which pays them regular dividends will be fairly well insured against theft, but the firm which ignores them must reconcile itself to a large proportion of gashed sacks, broken crates, and damaged goods.

WENT ON STRIKE

Two years ago the beggars of the city walked out on strike. In order to show their sym-pathy with the students who were agitating for an anti-Japanese boycott, both the Beggars' and Thieves' Guilds voted to refrain from their customary occupations for forty-eight hours. Though the cessation of these essential in-dustries threatened a com-mercial panic in the city, Shanghai managed to bear up under the disaster until the guilds went back to work. There is no record, however, of the city authorities appoint-ing an arbitration board in order to make peace.

This is by no means the only time that the guild has shown an interest in public affairs. Several of the beggars' or-

LLOYD GEORGE ASKS CHURCH TO KEEP OUT OF POLITICS

Premier Cites An Exam-ple Of "Mischievous Interference

LEAGUE FUTILE

Nations Greedier And More Prideful Than Before War, He Says

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—A strong appeal to the Churches to avoid interference in politics was made by the Prime Minister in an ad-dress to a religious gathering at Portmadoc. He said that great controversies in the immediate future would wage round the question of relations between capital and labor. If debate in that connection were introduced into the Churches, it would in-evitably divide and destroy the Churches for the greater pur-poses for which they ought to exist.

Mr. Lloyd George referred to a recent conference of highly-placed divines, which had ex-pressed an opinion as regards the best method of settling the coal dispute, as an example of the mischievous interference by a re-ligious orgauisation in the task of the Government. The Irish question, he said, was also an unfitting subject for debate at religious conferences.

There was a danger, the Prime Minister continued, that, unless something more were done to in-struct opinion in civilised coun-tries, the League of Nations might become a breeding ground for intrigues and feuds. Parties and groups might be formed and one day, when the majority was for one way and force for an-other, it might be found that the discussions of the League only led to the greatest conflict yet witnessed.

He said he had been filled with disappointment when he saw that, despite the lesson taught by the war, the spirit of national hatred and national greed and the worst form of national pride were as dominant as ever, not only in countries that were great before the war, but even worse in liberated na-tions, amongst whom he saw no sign of anxiety for the inter-vention of the League of Nations in their disputes nor any respect for its decisions.

The conscience of the people, Mr. Lloyd George declared, must be trained so that it would abhor bloodshed as a crime. The Chur-ches must create that atmos-phere. The same applied to in-dustrial warfare. Surely, the Prime Minister concluded, there must be a less barbarous way of settling disputes than by a war of starvation. The Churches could inculcate a spirit of good-will between the classes and greater readiness to consider each other's point of view.

Mexican Oil Resources Less, Prices Tumble

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 15.—Mexican petroleum prices broke seven points and other oils were weak as a result of a report that Mexi-co's oil supply was dwindling. The remainder of the market was heavy. The report was made by the Shipping Board's expert, Mr. Phelan, and was to the effect that in forty square miles of Mexico's producing area, sixty-three out of 104 wells had ceased to produce, and that salt water was rapidly filling the others.

Mr. Phelan's report urged the American Government to embark on a policy of development of the Mexican oilfields and represented British companies as correspond-ing with Mexican political de-mands to the detriment of Amer-ican companies.

CHURCHILL STIRS EMPIRE ENVOYS WITH UNITY PLEA

Colonial Secretary Hopes For Union Of English Speaking Peoples

WOULD INSURE SAFETY

Cheered For Admitting Change Of Mind On Imperial Preference

(Reuter's Service)

Vancouver, B. C., June 15.—The Premier of British Columbia, Mr. Oliver, has cabled to Mr. Meignen, the Canadian Prime Minister, who is now in London, urging that any renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance should preserve for Canada the right to restrict Japanese immigration. Meanwhile, the Court of Appeal had decided that the clause in British Government contracts, prohibiting the employment of Orientals on public works in connection with mining and timber leases, is illegal.

London, June 16.—A number of Imperial visitors were entertained at a banquet last night by the Empire Development Parliamentary Committee. The guests included Colonel H. Mentz and Sir Thomas Smartt (South Africa), Mr. W. M. Hughes (Australia), Mr. W. F. Massey (New Zealand), and Mr. Sastri (India).

CHURCHILL'S SPEECH

Mr. Winston Churchill, Colonial Secretary, in an address of welcome, said: "Our hearts go out in cordial welcome to our visitors. When they last came, they brought to the legions of the British Empire splendid and powerful armies, which held a place unsurpassed in the clash of Armageddon. Today they have not brought legions, but we know now what before the war we only dared to hope, namely, that, should danger threaten, the representatives of these great Dominions will come in with valiant legions. We in this old Motherland will not be behind them in giving an equal measure of support, and, if an attack is threatened in any part of the Empire, we shall be found ready to do our duty thoroughly and faithfully.

"If we keep firm the handgrip locked during the war, we are bound to become a unit in the world so powerful as to be safe—to become a power second to no combination of men, and capable of dealing with our cousins and brothers in the United States on terms of equal friendship. That would be a super-unit which would secure the safety of all who speak the English tongue, and it would be a halcyon period of security, prosperity and glory which no other combination in the world would dare to interrupt or molest."

CHANGES MIND

Loud and prolonged applause greeted Mr. Churchill's subsequent statement that "As regards Imperial Preference I have changed my mind."

London, June 15.—Interviewed by a representative of Reuters, the Maharajah of Cutch, who is representing the Indian Princes at the meetings of the Imperial Cabinet, said that India's definite program depended on the agenda of the conference. If, however, there was any idea of not taking up the questions in which India is specially interested, they expected that Mr. Montagu, the Secretary of State for India, would take a firm stand and press for proper consideration of them.

The main question, the Maharajah continued, was the position of Indians in the Colonies and Dominions. After India's war record it was impossible to understand why there should be any differential treatment for Indians. The representatives of India in London were united in regard to this matter and they had the full support of the Indian Government.

"We would be grievously disappointed," the speaker continued, "if the conference does not result in something definite in this respect. We are also interested in the Anglo-Japanese Alliance but we think that India should be able to defend herself either alone or with the aid of Imperial troops. The question of tariffs affecting India is also most important."

The Maharajah concluded by saying that he saw no reason for pessimism in regard to India, particularly as the recent reforms had given real satisfaction. Moreover, he added, the heart of India is as loyal to the Empire as ever.

a treasure for you to take with you through life—an ideal, a standard, the thought that you each must help the other, even while artificing his own fate. You must always be on the side of good will and large fellowship. You are not better than the different races or classes less fortunate than you: You might be of a higher standard, but remember you are always of the same school."

The temptations and the snares of life, which always await the unprepared, the uninitiated or the weak were spoken of, and advice and hope was given that these ten graduates might successfully withstand all influences not for their good.

It was essential in life to "play the game," the speaker continued, even as these scholars had played their sporting games at school, always giving out a square deal, to colleagues and to opponents, never shirking, never taking advantage, generous in victory as well as in defeat. To stand by the school faith in the outer world would assure that God would be with them at the finish as well as at the beginning.

Mr. Willard W. Bartlett, principal of the American School in presenting the class to Judge C. S. Lobingier, who was chosen by the graduates themselves for the task of distributing the diplomas, spoke of the passing of the class of 1921. He was sad, and glad, at one and the same time he said, to see them leave his school. The school he said was like unto a family, where a child was reared to maturity only to have it leave the home tigs and go out into the world where the fight is ever strong.

The ten graduates, he was confident, would return to Shanghai and to China, after their university careers in the States, and China, he was sure, would benefit by their works. But, if it might develop that they do not return he was certain that they would always be found in the midst of useful life, where the "fight was strong"—he predicted that this class of 1921 would be a big bit for civilisation. He was proud of the class, and he wanted to say so.

Judge Lobingier presented the diplomas. He spoke of the receipt of the first diploma as a unique and unparalleled event in youth's career, and he urged the graduates to "Get the habit" of collecting diplomas in American universities to the bachellor degrees, and then in the school of life itself. He delivered the sheepskins, with appropriate little remarks to each of the class, amid enthusiastic applause, from the 500 people in the hall.

All of the graduates plan on entering American colleges. Walter James Seymour has already sailed to enter University of Wisconsin. Miss Frances White, who is the class president, will enter Dennison University in the fall. She sails for the United States on June 25. Miss Helen Proctor sails for America in June and will also enter Dennison College. Miss Helen Smith is sailing in July to enter Mt. Holyoke College. Pierson Parker will enter the University of California a year from this coming fall, spending the intervening year in Shanghai. Miss Ruth Robertson is to remain in Shanghai a year and then enter Purdue University. Miss Gertrude Ekvall sails for the States on June 26, where she expects to enter the University of Wisconsin, Charles Duff sails in July and will enter Oberlin College.

Begging Is Well Organised Here

ganisations throughout China made contributions to the Famine Relief Drive, some of which were decidedly substantial. In Tientsin, the Beggars' Guild presented a beautiful grandfather clock to a retiring official who had won their favor.

Mendicants in Shanghai range from the laughing gnome of the Native City to lachrymose individuals who daub their faces with sheep blood and wail like a Chinese ghost unable to find his ancestral tablet.

There is a woman who sits fainting by the roadside while her small son fans her face, smooths her forehead, and tries to open her eyes. The first time we saw this spectacle we were decidedly touched; when we witnessed it in quite another part of town, we were considerably less so; and when, on another occasion, we saw the erstwhile fainting lady leap gaily aboard a moving street-car and haul her young hopeful on behind her, our sympathy market suddenly went bankrupt.

MEET AT CHURCH

The deformed beggars of the city hold a convention every Sunday at the gates of the Russian Church, where the worshippers evidently feel obliged to give alms. The Easter service of the Orthodox Church was held last month at midnight. Just how the beggars got hold of the church calendar is not described in the minutes, but somehow the occurrence of Russian Easter became known to the untutored pagans of beggardom, and practically every guild-member in good standing was present outside the gates to assist the congregation in being charitable.

Terrible stories are told of newly-born babies who are placed in an earthenware jar with only their heads protruding and who are kept in this barbarous cradle for two or three years. When the jar is at last broken, the child is equipped for his trade by a set of distorted limbs and a wizened body surmounted by a head of normal size. Children are starved, maimed, and bruised in order to excite the pity of the unwary one who knows no better than to encourage the industry.

These children, however, are the only mendicants who really deserve compassion. "Be a beggar for three years and you wouldn't trade places with a Mandarin," says a Chinese proverb. On the whole, the guild-members seem to find it a carefree life with lots of opportunity to take part in festivals, engage in blackmail, and walk away with as many chattels as they can without intruding on the industrial domain of the Thieves' Guild.

INDO-CHINA S.S. COMPANY FEARS U.S. COMPETITION

Shipping Board's Activities "Being Watched With Anxiety"

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, June 15.—At the annual meeting today of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company, the chairman mentioned that the company was meeting increasingly severe competition from the United States Shipping Board, which was entering into direct competition with some local and domestic trades that had been built up and fostered by British shipping interests.

The Shipping Board's operations, he said, were being watched with increasing anxiety by shipping companies in all parts of the world.

While it was recognised that the exigencies of the war had given birth to the American mercantile marine, it was hoped that in the days of peace means would be found to operate that fleet in a manner that would not put the financial resources of a nation against those of the shipping companies.

While it was impossible at present to gauge the extent to which private shipping interests would suffer in normal times through this very one-sided conflict, he hoped that a way out of the difficulty would be found that would give mutual satisfaction to all concerned.

While the company's rates had been reduced to meet the opposition from "subsidised intruders" in the China coast trade, the company had been loyally supported by its old constituents, and though they would have to content themselves with a reduced revenue during the time the competition lasted, he did not view the future with alarm.

The Commissioners of Foreign Affairs at both Ichang and Hankow will be instructed to inquire into the losses sustained by foreign residents.

General Wang Chan-yuan has reported to the Government that the mutiny at Wuchang has been completely suppressed and he is now prepared to consider claims for damages from the merchants and others who have suffered losses through the incident.

TURCO-GREEK WAR TO BURST SOON; BOTH CONFIDENT

Soviet Troops Arrive To Aid Turkish Nationalists

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 16.—A Turco-Greek conflagration is now on the verge of bursting out, both sides having profited by the lull in hostilities to reorganise extensively. The Turks, who are expected to open the attack, claim to have doubled their forces since the last operations, while King Constantine's visit to the front in Asia Minor suggests Greek confidence.

According to Reuter's Rome correspondent the newspapers there report the arrival in Anatolia of Soviet troops for the purpose of aiding the Turkish Nationalists. Russo-Turkish forces are said to have begun an advance, their objectives being Smyrna and Constantinople.

Reuter's correspondent at Constantinople reports extensive Greek reconnoitring operations along the whole front, while a despatch from Angora speaks of serious differences between the members of the National Assembly. An interpellation regarding the change of British policy towards the Angora government provoked heated discussions.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 15.—Commenting on Mr. Churchill's speech in the House of Commons on Tuesday last on British Near Eastern policy, the London Times agrees that it would be fatal to the joint interests of Great Britain and France not to act in agreement with each other in the Levant and adds that the principal object of Great Britain's policy should be to establish real and durable peace with the Turks.

Tuchun Blameless In Hupeh Looting, Is Peking Decree

The Peking militarists are optimistic over the defiant attitude of Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang, as the result of the disapproval expressed by other warlords over Lu's action. Chang Tso-lin of Fengtien, Wang Tsan-yuan of Hupeh, Tsao Kun of Chihli, Chao Ti of Honan and Chi Shih-yuan of Kiangsu have all informed the Cabinet that they were not interested in the movement instigated by Lu.

Peking hopes to check any possible aggression on the part of Lu by Wang Tsan-yuan of Hupeh and Chi of Kiangsu. With this in view, the Cabinet at a meeting on Wednesday exonerated Wang from all blame arising out of the mutinies in Ichang and Wuchang and at the same time asked the Hupeh warlord to devise means of relieving the victims.

Wang, therefore, is now organising a relief committee, consisting of 20 leading members of the Hupeh gentry and has extracted $300,000 from his own pocket to curry favor with the local people by compensating and indemnifying the sufferers.

In the wholesale massacre of looters at Siaokan, the forces of Wang Tsan-yuan shot a railway coolie by mistake. The sum of $3,000 is being paid to hush up the matter, Chinese press reports say.

Examinations For U. S. Army To Be Held At Tientsin

Peking Officials Fear For Control Of Yangtsze Valley

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, June 14.—The Peking administration is becoming greatly alarmed for its control in the Yangtsze valley. A combination of circumstances, of which its enemies are not slow to take advantage, threaten its even nominal hold on the provinces of Kiangsu, Chekiang, Kiangsi and Hupeh.

Eight alleged conspirators who have, according to government agents, confessed to being in the employ of Hsu Shu-tseng, or "Little" Hsu, have been seized in the vicinity of Nanking. Hsu is said to be making the most of the Hupeh disturbances, and to be getting into touch with the political enemies of Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan. This faction is willing to support Hsu for the time being if he can promise to assist in the elimination of Wang.

At the same time that it has Hsu's intrigues to contend with, the central government finds its control threatened in Kiangsi by the efforts of ex-Governor Chen, who was lately affronted by an acceptance of request for sick leave, to regain his lost position.

Chen is residing in Shanghai and is very active for a sick man. An indication of the way the wind is blowing is given Peking in the open flouting of the election mandate by Tuchun Lu Cheng-hsiang, of Chekiang, and controller of the Shanghai region.

All of these factions are flirting with Sun Wen's Canton government, and a coalition against the Peking clique is very possible in the near future. This is greatly feared by Premier Chin, who has despatched a large number of agents to hold down the situation as best they can.

The principal tactic of the administration's defense of its rice-bowl is the effort to keep Chi Hsieh-yuan, Tuchun of Kiangsu, loyal. Chi, however, shows neither great fear nor admiration for the Peking government, and his loyalty will likely go to the winning side.

British Women's Association

SOCIAL SERVICE BOARD

The object of the Board Social Service, a meeting of which was held recently, will be to help existing charities, and to work in with any charitable or social effort, now in existence, or that may be formed at any future date. The Board is anxious to make it known that their work, as far as existing charities is concerned, is one of co-operation and not of competition. As the whole principle of the Board is based on service, it is hoped to receive generous support, and an appeal is made for financial aid. Monthly subscriptions, as well as donations will be accepted, and may be sent to the Hon. Treasurer, Mrs. John Douglas, 7 Yangtszepoo Road.

It has been decided to form a sub-committee to assist, as much as possible, in supporting the British Medical and Educational Mission. The Missionary Societies have been faced with the need of asking for outside help, by having their grants from Home very much curtailed. Another sub-committee will be formed with a view to organising a scheme for the benefit of officers and men of the Merchant'le Marine when in Shanghai.

It is hoped in the autumn to hold a drawing room sale, and members of the Association are asked if they will bring back from their holidays some article for this sale, so that there may be a collection of interesting things not usually seen locally. There might be quite a keen competition in this way, and a good sum realised if all members will kindly co-operate. It is as well to remember that anything is saleable, from a Siamese kitten to an enamelled "blue bird" from Weihaiwei, or from a kimono from Japan to a pair of Java sparrows.

M. de Fleuriau, the newly appointed Minister to China, and several prominent Paris and Lyons manufacturers were present.

Germans Balk At Taking Troops Out Of Upper Silesia

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 15.—On receipt of the Inter-Allied High Commission's demand for the withdrawal of the German troops in Upper Silesia, General Hoeffer, the commander of the troops in question, took refuge behind the committee of the German party leaders. Accordingly, the committee was summoned before the Inter-Allied Commission at Oppeln on Monday last.

At the opening of the discussion, the Germans presented a memorandum declaring that the total withdrawal of their troops was impossible and in spite of the insistence of the Allied representatives and particularly of the British Commissioner, Sir Harold Stuart, they persisted in this attitude.

As a result of this conference it seems probable that representations will be made to Berlin to the effect that the Inter-Allied Commission's authority in Upper Silesia must be completely restored and not endangered by the attitude of the German elements there.

The Avenir asserts that it is the Germans, and the Germans only, who are now opposed to a peaceful solution of the Upper Silesian problem. The paper adds that British public opinion will now no longer doubt this fact.

Paris, June 15.—M. Loucheur and Herr Walter Rathenau have reported to their respective governments on the conversations they had together at Wiesbaden last Sunday.

Mr. Pitri's body was found and the facts as to his death were ascertained by Dr. di Giura, the surgeon attached to the Italian Legation, and the Legation Chaplain. Mr. Pitri's funeral is expected to take place tomorrow.

JAPAN'S PRINCE

(Reuter's Service)

Amsterdam, June 15.—Crown Prince Hirohito arrived here today and was received at the station by Prince Hendrik, the Foreign Minister; the Japanese Minister and members of the Japanese Legation. The party drove to the palace where the Queen and Prince Hirohito appeared on the balcony and were warmly cheered by an enormous crowd, while the band played the Japanese national anthem.

Speaking at a banquet in Prince Hirohito's honor, Queen Wilhelmina cordially welcomed the Prince and referred to the cordial reception accorded to the Dutch fleet by Japan last year. Her Majesty said that this visit was a further testimony of the sincere friendship between Holland and Japan and would draw still closer the bonds uniting the two countries.

In reply Prince Hirohito said that since Japan had opened her doors to foreigners, the friendly relations between Holland and Japan had never ceased to improve.

Prior to the banquet in Prince Hirohito's honor, the Queen received the new Chinese Minister to the Netherlands, Mr. Wang Kang-ki, who presented his credentials, and later attended the banquet.

British M.P. Hits At Pact Renewal

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Mr. W. Tyson Wilson (Labor) asked whether in view of the unemployment in Great Britain steps would be taken to prevent anything prejudicial to our trade relations with China being embodied in the Anglo-Japanese Treaty.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain replying, said that in reaching a decision on the question of the Anglo-Japanese agreement all relevant considerations would be borne in mind.

NEW EZRA GARAGE WILL BE BUILT ON BUBBLING WELL

China Motors, Ltd., Buys Portuguese Consulate-General Property

In line with other recent big deals by the same enterprising concern, Mr. Max Friedman, sales manager of the China Motors, Ltd., announces the purchase of five mow of land on Bubbling Well Road on which a four-storey concrete garage is to be erected. The transaction was concluded yesterday by Mr. Friedman and Mr. Edward Ezra, managing director of the Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., which owns the motor car company.

The property purchased is now occupied by the Portuguese Consulate and the residence of Mr. C. W. Beswick. The price was Tls. 97,500, and the seller was S. A. Hardoon.

The new motor car emporium is to be known as the Ezra Garage, and it will be particularly elaborate and complete in every detail. On one floor there will be an artistic and commodious show room, second to none in the Far East, with space for twelve cars. Another entire floor will be devoted to coach building, and still another to a scientifically equipped service department.

The property, which is opposite the Country Club, has a frontage of 500 feet. The land and the completed building will represent an investment of Tls. 267,000. Construction work will begin at once and the building is expected to be ready for occupancy in about eighteen months.

It is only a few months ago that the China Motors, Ltd., operating the Star and the Eastern garages, was purchased by the Edward Ezra interests and the Friedman brothers immediately placed in charge as the managers. Next came the establishing of agencies and connections in the principal centers of China. Within the month the Ezra-Friedman interests announced the puchase of the motor car agency of the Andersen, Meyer and Co., whereby China Motors, Ltd., acquired not only the agency rights of the selling concern for all of China, but also the best equipped garage in Peking and valuable property and equipment in other important business centers.

Mr. Leon Friedman is at present out of the city in the interest of the increasing out-port business of his concern.

Changchow Offenders Taken In Raid Here

Three men wanted by the Changchow authorities were arrested by the local police last night in a raid on an opium den at 139 Chekiang Road. One of the men is wanted on a charge of opium smuggling and the other two are charged with having forcibly removed the former from the custody of the Changchow police. All were fined $3 by the Mixed Court yesterday for opium smoking and were ordered handed over to the Chinese authorities at Changchow. The proprietor of the opium den was fined $30, with the alternative of a month's imprisonment.

$420,000 Raised For Teachers By New Finance Chief

Hopes to avert the educational crisis in Peking became rosy when the sum of $420,000 was raised by the Ministries of Finance and Communications to pay the overdue salaries of the teachers and when Ma Shu-luan, the teacher who received injuries at the recent demonstration, quit hunger-striking.

The total amount of salaries in arear is about $700,000. The ministries have agreed to release the amount raised as soon as the teachers consent to resume their work. It is understood that the majority of the strikers will consent to resume teaching.

Ma, who had been refraining from eating since last Saturday on account of the presence of gendarmes in his hospital, the Shu Shan Hospital, quit fasting when the men were withdrawn. He has been removed to the French Hospital where he can enjoy more freedom.

A section of the students and teachers, however, insist on the settlement of the crisis in a court of law and wish to hold Ma Ling-yi, the new Vice-minister of Education, and Yin Hun-shou, the Chief of the Gendarmes, responsible of the sanguine clash between the constables and the students and teachers on June 3.

Piracy On Increase Around Shanghai

Authorities Taking Steps To Suppress Depredations Near Here

The alarming increase of piracy on the waterways around Shanghai is receiving the attention of the authorities and steps are being taken for its suppression, according to the Chinese press.

It was reported yesterday that a junk belonging to the Zung Fung Lumber Company was attacked on Tuesday near Wenchow, while en route to Shanghai, and was looted, while one of the crew was seized and is being held for ransom. The Lumber Merchants' Guild here has wired to the Tuchun of Fokien asking him to send a warship to patrol the district and rescue the prisoner. In view of the increasing activities of pirates in the Dien Sun Ho district, near Sunkiang, the Taho and Whangpoo districts, the chief of the Water Police is sending ten gunboats to patrol these waters.

Strikers Repeat Request For Rise

The striking carpenters and masons are expressing dissatisfaction with the offer of the employers to raise their wages next year and are demanding an immediate increase, according to the Chinese press.

Following the meeting held the first of the week, when the contractors made their announcement regarding a future boost in wages, a number of the strikers have drawn up a circular in which they declare that they are unable to live on their present pay. They ask that payment in future be made on a silver money basis instead of upon a copper cash basis, claiming that such revision is imperative to their existence, owing to increased costs of living and the depreciation of copper coins. The circular asks that the employers hold another meeting to reconsider the problem.

Mutinous Sailors To Appear For Trial In U.S. Court Today

Further evidence was taken at the United States Consulate yesterday in connection with the fighting and rioting which occurred on board the steamer Eastern Admiral on her trip from San Francisco to Shanghai. One of the crew, A. Swenson, was placed on trial for assault with a deadly weapon upon another sailor, F. Rice, who is at present in the General Hospital following a severe slashing with a razor.

United States Commissioner F. J. Schuhl went to the wounded man's bedside to take his testimony and it is probable that Swenson will be held for trial in the United States Court for China. Rice is himself under charge of assault and is alleged to have been one of the ringleaders in the dirorder aboard ship.

Captain W. I. Eisler, representing the United States Shipping Board, warned subordinate officers of the ship who appear to be withholding evidence that unless they give the authorities the facts they may lose their tickets. Connor, the Englishman who created a scene in court on Wednesday and appears to be a typical sea lawyer of fiction was given a hearing yesterday, when he went on another tirade, and was ordered aboard ship until further orders.

Several of the crew are expected to appear before Judge Lobingier today and it is understood that others will be dismissed from the ship.

PADDOCK EXPLAINS HIS VICTORIES; WILL QUIT GAME AFTER JULY RACE

Racing Star Has No Set Training Rules; Dances And Eats Almost Everything; Will Try To Run 100 Yards In 9 2-5 Seconds In Final Race At Pasedena

In the days of olden Greece, the swiftest of the swift was Hermes, or Mercury, the messenger of the gods, who ran aided by winged sandals and the imagination of those who worshipped him.

Today, the swiftest of all men is Charley Paddock of the University of Southern California, who runs aided by powerful, hard-driven legs and a strong physique that enables him to finish with the greatest burst of speed ever seen on a modern track.

And the world wonders what sort of a man this is—this superbeing that shatters four world's records in one day, and continually threatens to eclipse others! And so the great athlete was cornered in his private little bungalow in the rear of his father's home at No. 746 South Madison street, Pasadena. There he told something of his life, of his past, of his future, of his ambitions, and of how he is able to run so swiftly.

"My last race will be in the national A. A. U. Championships soon to be held in Pasadena," said Paddock. "After that I shall hang up my spikes and turn to literature. I have been running eight years, and that is long enough.

"As for my further attempts to lower world records, I will say that if the day is good and the competition is fast, I may run my last 100 yard dash in 9 2-5 seconds. Talk of my trying to run 440 yards in the record time of 46 seconds is all the bunk! It is too far.

KEEPS IN GOOD SHAPE

"How do I keep in training? I keep in good condition and train but little on the track. I have eight hours regular sleep and eat at regular hours.

"What do I eat? The best way to answer that is to name what I don't eat. I eat meat vegetables, ice cream, cereals and candy. I do not eat pastry nor drink coffee or tea, and I don't smoke.

"My track practice consists of a few starts on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. I have no regular set of exercises. My chief exercise is in trying to get to school on time.

"I attribute my success to my natural ability to run, keen competition, proper training and my good condition. I think that Coach Dean Crowwell is one of the three best coaches in the West. The others are Templeton and Christie.

NEVER WINDED AT END

"I am never winded at the end of a race. My legs often tire, as was the case the 300-meter race last Saturday.

"Sure, I dance. About once a week at a fraternity dance. Don't ask me what I thing of girls. It is a dangerous question. I take no chances of being forced to run it in nine seconds flat."

Paddock is majoring in English with the view of becoming a writer. He is editor of the Trojan, writes for syndicates, and dashes off a few articles for a Pasadena paper. He announced that he is writing a book on the Inter-Allied games and the Olympic games.

"My leap at the end of race causes much discussion," said Paddock. "I do it because it is the way to win and to break records. I can turn a 9 4-5 second into 9 3-5 by this sixteen-foot jump.

"I take an eight-foot stride, the longest of any recent runner except Joe Loomis.

"I am always nervous before a race. All runners are. But when the race is on there is much to watch. We must take note of the position and the speed of the other runners and of our own strength. It takes headwork as well as footwork to win a race."

K.O.O'KAY WAS A GOOD HEADPIN

Looked Like A Bowling Tournament When Roughtown's Indelible Champion Started Stepping

"BUGS" BAER

Sport Editor:

The shadow of K. O. O'Kay inspires me to juggle my non-refillable fountain pen and blot out his praises on long Carter's spree.

K. O. O'Kay feared no man and but two women—his wife and her mother. Popular as a paycheck, he was never extended until he fought Gink Fowler at Ypsilanti, which would make anybody want to fight. O'Kay knocked Gink stiffer than frozen wash on the line.

Yours until Washington is the capital of Japan,

ALBERT HERTWIG,
Milwaukee.

Jealousy and envy both ride on the same commutation ticket. This K. O. O'Kay was a good man in his time, but with Gink he was like pie on the knife, Gink could drop him any time he wanted.

At the time they fought—no, it wasn't fighting—at the time they met by mutual distrust in Roughtown, at the big Alimony Week, one of the largest crowds turned out to dodge the entrance tolls. It was the day of the big Muddy Gras, an idea that has been copied by Coney Island and New Orleans. It was a tough bunch that night. Even for Roughtown. A bug in the nickel seats ordered two herrings. He ate one. And smoked the other. This got the crowd jealous and they cut the ring ropes up into all Havana perfectos.

The belles of Roughtown snipped the ring canvas up into beauty spots. The Mayor swiped the gong and gave it to his wife for the brass anniversary of her wedding ring.

The babies of Roughtown thought the lumps of resin were rock candy. They ate it all and then started to play hide and seek with four mountain lions that had come into Roughtown looking for prey. It was a natural mistake on the lions' part that they apologised for after they untied the knots in their tails.

K. O. O'Kay fiddled around so much in the first hundred rounds that the Roughtown young set started to swing their partners. One youth to swing the Mayor for a case note. Having a good memory, the Mayor remembered that March was the month he always sent his laundry away. He left hurriedly and was one of the two guys who didn't see the finish of the fight. The other bird was K. O. O'Kay.

Gink caught O'Kay coming in and changed his direction like a traffic cop. He hung up the No Thoroughfare sign on him, and K. O. detoured toward the floor. The floor was made of birdseye maple, and K. O. heard all the birdies singing from close range. He didn't have to get up. The punch bounced him up. Gink humped K. O. up and down again for three hundred cosmopolitan rounds.

They fought at catchweights, meaning that Gink had the weight and K. O. did the catching. At the end of four hundred rounds the fight was stopped to hold the autopsy.

That is the only authentic, antiseptic, Republican account of that battle. Anybody who says different doesn't know enough to swipe an umbrella in April.

Will Name Winner Of Carpentier-Dempsey Bout If It Goes Limit

Because of the possibility of the Carpentier-Dempsey championship battle going the limit of twelve rounds Tex Rickard has decided on a plan to officially name the winner of the bout in spite of the New Jersey laws prohibiting a referee's decision. Rickard will ask Jim Jeffries, Lord Lonsdale and Jim Corbett to act as judges in case of necessity. It is probable that the principals in the great bout will agree to abide by the decision of the judges should there fail to be a knockout. The judges' decision will also serve to decide the thousands of wagers on the battle.

Tilden Tells Story Of Final Davis Cup Match

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN

The deciding match of the Davis Cup was at hand—the doubles. If we won America was assured of the cup; if taken by Australasia they still had a chance. This event drew the largest crowd of the entire meeting. Fully 6,500 people piled into the enclosure around the court.

Public opinion was united in conceding the match to Brookes and Patterson. The critics had not been impressed by the play of Billy Johnston and myself as a doubles' team. And why should they? Our sole efforts while in Australasia had been six defeats to one victory when pitted against Hardy and Washburn. That was why one heard comments on our being used at all in the doubles.

When play opened Brookes was visibly tired from his efforts of the previous day in singles against me. But Patterson was greatly improved and keen with a determination to retrieve his terrible showing against Johnston. As always Billy and I were a little uncertain in doubles. But Billy quickly rounded into his best form and the games seesawed back and forth to four-all. For the Australians Patterson's remarkable smashing and Brookes' ability to make astounding gets as well as to anticipate our best shots not only brought them to this point, but finally permitted them to break through on my service for the first set at 6-4.

Brookes was steadily improving in this event, whereas Patterson was beginning to show signs of a relapse. And Billy and I began working together better now. Bill was driving remarkably well off service and his close-in volleying scored, point after point for us. Brookes and I but kept the ball in play during it. As a result of Johnston's severity and Patterson's erratic streak, the second set was ours at 6-4.

The third set proved a riot. Johnston literally went wild and everything he hit went for a

CARPENTIER STOCK GETS BOOST WHEN BRADY AND CURLEY HOP OVER TO SIDE OF FRENCH BOXER

Jack Curley Was First To Boom Champion As Wonder And Brady Cleaned Up When Jim Corbett Beat John L. Sullivan; Both Figure Carpentier Winner

BY TAD

Two of the greatest boosters that Jack Dempsey ever had, have lately switched and gone over to the side of Georges Carpentier.

Jack Curley was the first man that the writer ever heard boost the present champion.

That was some years ago. We were standing on the corner of Broadway and Forty-second street, and Jack was quite hopped up on Dempsey.

"You never saw a fighter like him in your life," said Curley, who had just seen Dempsey beat Carl Morris in Buffalo. "You'll admit that I've seen some good ones, won't you?" piped Jack. "Well, I never saw one like Dempsey. You can't stop him and he can hit the way dynamite bucks. He took my Carl Morris and almost killed him. Morris didn't budge him and he hit Dempsey with everything he had. This fellow will knock Fulton out before the sixth round if they ever fight."

The writer at that time had never seen Dempsey, but was a great believer in Fulton, and right there bet Mr. Curley a new $15 skimmer on Fulton if ever a Dempsey-Fulton match came off. Jack won in a punch.

Well, so much for that.

Yesterday we ran across Mr. Curley in Great Neck and asked him about the coming fight.

"Put me down for Carpentier," said Jack with a grin. "I know I used to like Dempsey. I liked him a lot, but when a better man comes along my money goes with him. Carpentier will startle the world the day he meets Dempsey. There'll be a new champion.

"Yep, for the first time in the history of boxing a foreigner will be the heavyweight champion of the world."

HARK TO MR. BRADY

Now we turn the page over and come to William A. Brady. You will remember that Mr. Brady was manager of Jim Corbett when James beat Sullivan. He took the short end on that fight and cleaned up.

At Toledo he took the Dempsey end against Willard and raked in once more. He figured Dempsey a cinch and his money said so too.

But now, right now, he has left the champion flat and gone to the side of the Frenchman.

Says Mr. Brady:

"Dempsey isn't the man he was when he beat Willard at Toledo. He has had but two fights in two years and that is not enough. He has slowed up considerably. He showed that in his battle with Brennan at Madison Square Garden. He wasn't one-third the man that night that he was in Toledo. He has never met a really good man and never faced one the equal of Carpentier. The Frenchman will beat him just as Corbett beat Sullivan. He's too fast and knows much more about fighting than the heavy hitting Dempsey. Carpentier is the greatest glove man since the days of Corbett."

'Goldie' Rapp Makes His Debut With Giants

John "Goldie" Rapp, the Giants' new sensational third baseman. Rapp was purchased from St. Paul last season for $15,000. He is twenty-seven years old, but has never before played on a major league team. "Goldie" will probably secure a regular berth at third. He is speedy, both in the field and on the bases and bats from both sides of the plate.

placement. Neither he nor I put one shot out and Johnston netted but two while I placed only four within this barrier. Bill scored the remarkable total of ten placements to my seven. Against such tennis as Johnston flashed in that set even Brookes wilted while Patterson broke completely. We took it at 6-0.

The result from that point on was never in doubt. The Australians, particularly Brookes, fought hard for the final set. In fact Brookes played his finest tennis of the match as defeat stared them in the face. But it all proved of no avail for we already held the big advantage and lost no time in pressing it home. The Davis Cup was at last ours when we won this last set at 6-3.

JOHNSTON IN A PINCH

That night was New Year's Eve and the good old New Zealand custom of a wild and cheery greeting of the coming year was certainly carried out. Notwithstanding the breaking up of the party in the wee small hours the final day of tennis produced two great matches.

Brookes, the wizard, again proved his art by his wonderful display against Billy Johnston. True, Johnston won, but it was only after one of the hardest struggles of his career. Brookes was superb in the early stages of this match. Repeatedly he caught Johnston going away from the ball. And he took the first set after a bitter struggle of the kind in which each had the chances, only to have the other pluck them away.

The second set saw Brookes in his best vein. He took a commanding lead at 5-2 and the set was in his hands at 30-all, by reason of what seemed a sure kill, when Johnston made a remarkable cross court volley return of it that, in my opinion, shook Brookes' nerve and saved the match for America. From that point Johnston put on steam and pulled to even terms. The strain of play here began telling on Brookes. As a result, Johnston was never again in danger. He won the second set at 7-5, and ran out the match in the succeeding two, 6-3, 6-3.

The Patterson I met that day was a greatly improved performer. During our first set he showed flashes of magnificent form and he took it, 7-5. But this proved the end for him, as I succeeded in gaining complete command of the situation in the next set by a concerted chop attack on Patterson's backhand. So it was my good fortune to win the final point for America with this score, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

The matches proved several things quite conclusively. While it did not need them to prove it, they nevertheless reiterated the fact that Billy Johnston is a magnificent player. They likewise proved that at 43 years Norman E. Brookes is still the greatest court general and tennis genius in the world. It was merely years that defeated Brookes. His stroke equipment is still the equal of that of the leading players today and his knowledge of how to apply them surpasses that of all others. He is just a shade slower in eye and foot than he was. Against the very first flight this handicap costs him victory.

Gerald Patterson was shown to be a dangerous and powerful player but one who is not yet and may never be first-class. No tennis man can be absolutely first-class while he has any stroke so fundamentally wrong as Patterson's backhand.

It was and always will be a pleasure to meet the Australians, for nowhere are finer players or more generous sportsmen to be found. They also are to be congratulated upon the enthusiastic and non-partisan spirit of the gallery, and their splendid court conditions, playing arrangements and fine management. The American team individually and collectively enjoyed this trip. It was not marred by a single unpleasant incident. And great credit must ever go to Captain Hardy for our success. By his tact, personality and charm he won the friendship of our hosts no matter where we played.

CAMP DEMONSTRATION

It is proposed to hold a Combined Camp Demonstration on Saturday, July 2, when a model Scout camp will be pitched with the object of illustrating camping to parents and friends.

The purchase or hire of a camping ground has not yet been arranged but Mr. T. Ward has very kindly offered the use of his grounds at No. 543 Avenue Haig for this demonstration.

Although the date fixed has necessarily to be after schools have broken up for the holidays it is hoped that Troops will be able to send representative patrols for the afternoon at least. Scouts may remain in camp over the week-end and this will form an easy first-step in camping under ideal conditions for the younger scouts.

The camp will be pitched on clean well-drained ground and have the advantage of a pure water supply, electric light, nearness to telephone, etc. All Scouts should attend.

Parents and friends are invited to visit the camp between 4 and 6. p.m. at Saturday when camp work and games will be in progress and possibly displays by one or more troops.

District Scout Master.

Dancers At The Astor

Tomorrow night at the Astor House Fred Crieghton and Sybil Warren, classical dancers, will make their bow to a Shanghai audience. The dancing team has been associated with many of the leading theatrical stars of America and Europe and comes to Shanghai with flattering notices from other cities. In Australia they played with Harry Lauder and in London with Adeline Genee, while in the United States they were with the Anna Pavolwa company and in Cuba members of the Sarah Bernhardt company.

The dancers will appear both in the dining room and, later, the ball room tomorrow evening.

AUSTRALIANS GET 569 RUNS FOR 5 WICKETS

Visiting Team Gets Big Start In Game With Hampshire

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—In their match against Hampshire at Southampton today, played in brilliant weather and before an attendance numbering some 10,000 spectators, the Australians were favored with an excellent wicket.

When stumps were drawn at close of play, the Australians had made 569 runs for five wickets. Bardsley contributed 209, which included 31 fours, in 3 hours and 25 minutes' play, giving but one doubtful chance. Macartney made 105, including 21 fours, in masterly style and without giving a single chance, in an hour and 23 minutes, while Taylor hit up 135, unfinished.

Shanghai, June 16.—The missing total of England's first innings in the test match at Lord's has now been received, viz., 187. The innings totals were therefore as follows:

England, 1st innings, 187; Australia, 1st innings, 342; England, 2nd innings 283; Australia, 2nd innings, 131 for 2 wickets.

STERLING RATE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 15.—The closing rate for the pound sterling as quoted on the Paris Bourse today was Francs 46.95.

FOREIGN CHILDREN IN THE FAR EAST

are especially subject to worms, some of the indications of which are irregular appetite, bad breath, grinding of the teeth in sleep, pain and swelling of the abdomen, irritation in the nose. Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, given for a few days, destroy worms, and a marked improvement in appetite and health speedily follows.

As an example of their efficacy in cases of this nature the evidence of Mrs. E. Morrison, Didsbury, North West Canada, is illuminating. She writes:—

"I can strongly recommend Baby's Own Tablets to mothers whose children are troubled with worms. I have never used a better medicine for this trouble. I have also found the Tablets good at teething time."

Babies and young children need special medicine of their own, something prompt yet mild in action, and which can be given without the slightest fear or hesitation. Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, exactly answer this description and are just the right remedy for infantile indigestion, colic, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea, teething troubles and colds. Obtainable from chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road Shanghai.

DRUG LICENSES GO INTO EFFECT ON JULY FIRST

Narcotics Must Be Sold Under New Regulations After That Date

Wholesale and retail dealers in opium and its derivitives and other noxious drugs may conduct their businesses only under Municipal license after July 1, according to announcement in today's Municipal Gazette. The licensing regulation comes into effect as a result of authority given the Municipal Council by the ratepayers at the last annual meeting and the measure was proposed with the idea of restricting the present widespread sale of narcotics in the Settlement.

According to the notification the restrictions apply to prepared or dross opium, morphine, ecgonine, heroin and their respective salts, or mixtures containing not less than .2 percent of morphine or .1 percent of ecgonine or heroin, cocaine and its salts and derivitives.

Applications must be made to the Health Office and proofs of fitness to engage in such sales must be produced. Licenses are to be non-transferable and the drugs specified may only be supplied to a qualified practitioner; to those licensed for the sale of such noxious drugs; for export in accordance with Customs regulations, or upon the prescription of qualified practitioners.

Administration of the drugs is not permitted to the selling agencies and the licensee must keep a book of record and must record therein all importations, purchases, and sales and must furnish to the Commissioner of Health a signed copy of all transactions on the fifth of each month. Names of persons to whom sales are made must be entered in the record and the licensee is not allowed to supply more than 10 official doses of any noxious drug to any person at any one time. Without permission of the Health Commissioner the licensee cannot have in his possession at any one time any quantity of one noxious drug in excess of 5 pounds weight. The record books are to be accessible to the Health and Police departments at all times and breach of any of the conditions of the license is to be considered cause for the withdrawal or suspension of the license.

General Feng's Army At Shangnan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 15.—The following further developments in the situation in Shensi are reported today. General Feng Yu-hsiang's troops have arrived at Shangnan a few miles from Tungkuan where General Wu Hsin-tien's force, divided into three detachments, is now at Tehan, whence the latter intends to commence his advance into Shensi through Chingtzekuan. Tungkuan is at present in the hands of Colonel Tang Chung-chow, commanding one of General Chen Shu-fan's brigades. The report that General Liu Tsun-hou, the former Tuchun of Szechuan, is supporting General Chen Shu-fan is semi-officially denied. It is stated that General Liu is and has always been a loyal servant of the Government. General Yen Hsiang-wen, the Tuchun designate of Shensi, arrived at Paotingfu on Sunday, where he discussed military questions with General Tsao Kun and he has now returned to Chengchow to make preparations for his entry into Shensi.

TRAM MEETING

Peking, June 15.—The Inauguration meeting of the Peking Tramway Company, with a capital of $5,000,000, half subscribed by the Peking Municipality and half by Chinese merchants, will take place at the Kiangsi Guild on June 30.

To Make Chauffeurs Pass Stricter Tests For Driving Permits

Commissioner Of Police Criticises Lighting Of Number Plates

The nocturnal nebulosity of motor car license plates comes in for a scoring in the monthly report of the Commissioner of Police, published in the Municipal Gazette of today.

Recent observations made at night, the report states, disclose the fact that a high percentage of motor vehicle tail lights do not sufficiently illuminate the license number plates. As regards freight motor vehicles it is found that owners have a penchant for placing the number plate in such position under the tailboard as to give it an extreme low visibility, also a contravention of the license conditions.

Colored, white and polished metal borders to number plate holders also render reading difficult in strong sunshine and artificial light and this infraction of the license stipulations, too, seems to be in vogue in the Settlements.

"Past experience shows," the report states, "that the advent of summer and the resultant increase in night driving brings with it a corresponding increase in reckless driving and other contraventions of traffic regulations. Special measures are being planned to check any inclination on the part of joy riders to ignore the regulations. It is hoped that members of the public will not fail to report contraventions coming under their notice, especially fast and reckless driving at cross roads, dangerous corners, etc. Where it is considered that a prosecution should follow, the appearance of members of the public at Court as witnesses will be appreciated by the police."

An important innovation is the decision that hereafter chauffeurs applying for driving permits will be required, from July 1, to pass a series of tests at the Gordon Road Chauffeur's School. The tests will embrace a knowledge of the essential points relating to the mechanism and proper upkeep of the car, traffic regulations and a more severe driving test. Heretofore permits were obtainable after a short driving test in the vicinity of Central police station. When considered necessary, the report states, present holders of paid drivers' permits will be sent to the school to undergo the prescribed tests.

Chinese At Urga Seek Loan Payment

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 14.—During the summer of last year the Chinese Chamber of Commerce at Urga loaned General Chen Yi, the Amban, $500,000 to meet the expenses of the maintenance of the troops under General Chu Chi-hsiang and General Kao Tsai-tien. At that time no money was forthcoming from Peking owing to the overthrow of the Anfu Cabinet and the troops at Urga were on the verge of starvation. The Chamber of Commerce is now demanding the repayment of this loan, which, if obtained, will in some measure help the Chinese merchants who suffered such heavy losses owing to the capture of Urga by the Russo-Mongol forces, to tide over their present difficulties.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

June 16, 1921

Spot bar silver was down 5/8d. and forward 1/2d. in London yesterday.

The New York price has declined to 58⅜ cents and the London-New York cross rate has improved to 378¼. The only change in the official rates today were a drop in the Yen rate to 76 and a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 63.

The market was barely steady throughout the day. There were sellers of Sterling at 3/5¼ and of Gold Dollars at 65¼ with buyers at 3/5¼ and 65½ respectively. The market was quiet and featureless throughout the day.

India is reported to have sold silver in London and there are probably Continental offerings also, as the Continent at present seems to be a fair seller.

New York reports the market there as being weak and advises that it is reported that negotiations have been made with Germany whereby 10,000,000 ounces are to be shipped from there to the United States to be refined, as it is understood that owing to the coal strike more silver has been shipped to London for refining than can be handled for the time being.

If Germany places any such amount of silver as this on the market it is bound to have a very weakening effect on the entire silver outlook.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report of yesterday:

JAPAN COAL

The Dragon Boat Festival has just taken place and that being one of the stated seasons of the year when the Chinese undertake a general settling up of accounts—native dealers are averse to entering on any new business for the time being—our local market is consequently very quiet.

In Japan the market shows a slightly stronger tendency owing to the output of the various mines all over Japan having been reduced.

FUSHUN COAL

No change.

FUCHUNG ANTHRACITE COAL

No change.

KAIPING COAL

The market continues dull and very little new business is reported. Deliveries at this time of the year usually ease off and there is no exception to the rule this season.

Most of the local Commercial Concerns especially Cotton Mills continue to work full time and regular deliveries are therefore being maintained.

The History and Problem of The Far Eastern Republic

(By a Russian Journalist)

THE average man, reading in his daily newspaper the mass of material published about Russia, and Russian affairs, sees very often references to, and articles about, the "Far Eastern Republic." To some the words are meaningless. It is something comparatively new. Where is this "Far Eastern Republic"? What is it? What is the mystery of its foundation? What is the game the Japanese are now playing with it? What about it, anyhow?

I shall here try to answer these questions. I shall here also try to explain why the whole Russian people have come to hate the Japanese for even those Russians who are still dealing with the Japanese hate them and will in time turn on them. They are groping now in the dark.

But if you are a Russian, well—you are a Russian and love your country. This thought and sentiment, nationally speaking, is not a monopoly of the Rusisan people. It is not confined to them. There are other patriotic peoples who do not wish to be disturbed by aliens in the settlement of their own domestic affairs.

More than a year ago, in March, 1920, Soviet troops occupied a small town about 200 miles west of Chita, on the Zabaikal Railway, named Verhne-Udinsk.

A short time after this date the Soviet Government declared that, wishing to prevent a war with Japan, it was ready to establish a Buffer State in Eastern Siberia, and would call it the "Far Eastern Republic." This was done on account of Japan's declaration that she was unwilling to accept in Eastern Siberia any Soviet form of Government.

When this decision was reached by the Soviet Government, the situation in the Russian Far East was as follows: Chita was in the hands of Semenoff, Verhne-Udinsk was occupied by the People's Army, and Vladivostok was under the government which was organised after the overthrow of Rosanoff on January 30, 1920. The People's Army and the Amur region both recognised the declaration of the Soviet Government regarding the establishment of the Buffer State.

Now it was necessary for these four provinces to unite in the proposition, and Verhne-Udinsk invited the other three to meet there for Conference. In the middle of last summer the Conference took place at Verhne-Udinsk, which represented the Governments of the Far East and they, after due deliberation, made declaration that the area from Baikal Lake east to the Pacific Ocean was to become an independent republic. They elected a united government, to whom they recommended as the first steps the ending of civil war, and the calling together of a Constitutional Assembly of the whole republic.

At this time Japan had a large army in Zabaikal, and they had the support of Semenoff in Chita, but owing to the influence of adverse criticisms in both the British and American press as regarded Japanese intervention in Siberia, Japan withdrew her troops from Zabaikal and sent them to the Maritime Province.

Immediately following the departure of the Japanese troops from Chita, the local organisations of that city elected officials to carry on the temporary government, which immediately started negotiations with Verhne-Udinsk to end hostilities. Semenoff, finding himself deserted by the Japanese, considered it unsafe to remain in Chita, so he withdrew, together with his troops. Shortly after his withdrawal, Chita and the other cities up to the border of Manchuria, were occupied by the People's Army and the initiatory steps for the formation of the Buffer State desired by Japan were peacefully concluded. And it was decided to call the state the "Far Eastern Republic."

Part of the Kappel troops remained in Chita, and enlisted in the ranks of the Far Eastern Republic army, and the rest evacuated with the Semenoff troops to Grodekovo, in the Maritime Province.

In the Autumn of 1920 there were no foreign troops anywhere in the whole territory of the Far Eastern Republic, with the exception of the Maritime Province. And so the first aim of the Conference of Governments of Eastern Siberia, at Verhne-Udinsk had been accomplished. Civil war was considered as finished, and the Eastern Siberia region was united. From that time on, the peaceful reconstruction and development of the country should have been uninterrupted, and it surely would have been, had it not been for Japanese interference. But not only was the development and reconstruction interfered with, there is also, alas, the destruction that has followed the intervention of the two last years—destruction of railways (for instance, the burning of two-thirds of the bridges on the Amur Railway). And in every line the economic life of the Republic has been destroyed as fast as it was built up.

It was a colossal task that these people bravely tackled—that of building up a Republic in a war-devastated country, subject to the daily interference and criticism of the Japanese, the very people who had supported the traitors who had rendered the country helpless.

But the men who were appointed to the task struggled on, and the first thing they did was to call a Constitutional Assembly, which adopted and published a constitution for the new republic, a constitution which recognised private rights, private property, and trade and civil rights, a constitution founded on the broad principles of every other democratic republic. As many readers will remember, this same Constitutional Assembly, in all good faith, sent a note of explanation of its aims and aspirations to the different nations as soon as its constitution was adopted—and asked Japan, particularly, to withdraw her troops from Siberia, as the other nations had seen the wisdom of doing two years before. But Japan would not listen to the voice of the young republic, and still pursued her course of interference with its daily affairs. They blocked the transportation of goods on the railways, they supported the Hunghutzes in their depredations, they seized fisheries, and speculated with Russian money. All this in the Maritime Province, and by these and other annoyances, which were peculiarly vexatious when accompanied by the myriad of other questions confronting the new government, they achieved their obvious purpose—that of preventing the republic from pursuing a peaceful and normal course.

The government of the Far Eastern Republic, from its very nature, that of a republican government, could not possibly satisfy the Japanese Militarist Party, because it was compelled to be a national government, recognising the rights of all citizens, and giving none preference, and defending its own nationals. The Japanese idea of a buffer state turned out to be an area in which they would become so influential that it would be practically their own territory—a sort of dummy state acting for Japan.

Although the laborers and peasants had been willing to yield to Japan's expressed preference that no Soviet system should obtain in this region, they strongly objected to any Japanese dominance such as that in Korea, or North China, and absolutely refused to part with the right to defend their own rights, and their own country. As soon as the Japanese Government awoke to the fact that it was not going to obtain undisputed sway in the Far Eastern Republic, but that, on the contrary its citizens expected that, having kept their promises of forming a buffer state, the Japanese must keep their promises of withdrawal, then it turned its attention to the organisation of a "Black Buffer State" in the Maritime Province. It was really very easy because for their gold yen they could find plenty of Russian reactionaries in Semenoff's ranks ready to be traitors. So, in the middle of last month at the Conference at Tokio it was decided by them that the "Black Buffer State" should be organised in the Maritime Province, and what they proposed in Tokio, they accomplished in Vladivostok on the 26th of May.

All the world knows what happened then, and who are now the real masters of this fair province. And all the world knows by what trickery this was brought about. It should be very easy for anybody at all to understand their aims, and the game they played then—and are playing still. These aims are three.

1—The blockade of the Far Eastern Republic.
2—The continuation of civil war.
3—The setting up of a new Government there to take the place of the honest young Republic, with which the Japanese militarists can at any time sign treaties, or obtain concessions impossible to other nations. It is obvious that the new government has been established solely for these purposes, as it was established by the Japanese, and they are its real supporters.

On account of the recent disturbances incident upon the overthrow of the Vladivostok Government, as engineered by the Japanese, there is and will be much suffering for practically the only Russian Pacific port is in their hands, railway communication and the transportation of food is interrupted, and there is a shortage of almost everything necessary to the carrying on of daily life and business throughout the Republic in consequence.

For the sake of the young Republic, which was trying so hard to grow and take an honest and honorable place in the world, it is to be hoped that all those nations which sent their troops to Siberia, and then in fairness and honor withdrew them, will now again assist by helping the Far Eastern Republic to rid herself of the Japanese incubus.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE

The Crown Prince of Japan, who has been visiting England, speaks and writes English fairly well. Like most foreigners, however, he found considerable difficulty at first in mastering the peculiarities of the language.

Once, when he was quite a lad, his English tutor was trying to define the use of the article "a."

"You must not," he explained, "say 'a houses' or 'a horses!' You cannot place 'a' before a plural noun."

The little Crown Prince picked up his tutor's prayer book, which he had evidently been studying in his spare time.

"Then how," he asked in all seriousness, "do you account for this?" indicating a word with his forefinger.

The tutor looked over his royal pupil's shoulder to see to which word he was referring.

It was "amen."

A PAYING INVESTMENT

It pays to smile. When troubles come, and you are feeling blue and glum, invest a wholesome smile or two, and watch the benefits accrue.

The world smiles with you when you smile, and offers big returns the while. It is indeed a pleasant place for those who wear the smile-lit face.

Since troubles cannot well abound, e'en when we find that days are found like yesterday with all its damp. Just let your face light like a lamp.

There is no way to speculate that brings returns by half so great, and every smile that you invest will earn a handsome interest. —N.A.L.

A KISSING RIDDLE

Mr. Keighley Snowdon, in his "The Master Spinner" tells of the fondness that Sir Swire Smith, the well known cotton spinner, had for scribbling things down in his diary.

"Why is kissing like creation?" he wrote. "Because it's made of nothing and God knows it's good."

On one page was this limerick:

There was an old lady of Cheadle
Who sat down in church on a needle.
Though deeply embedded,
'Twas luckily threaded—
And promptly pulled out by the beadle.

WHY? WHY? WHY?

Things women would like to know.

Why a man's theories regarding "women" and his taste in "women" are so different?

Why a man who falls in love with a pretty girl's foot and ankle is always shocked to find she has a brain at the other end?

Why there is so little difference between the savage and the civilised man—before breakfast?

Why a man always listens to his wife's conversation with that "I-am-ready-to-bear-with-you expression?"

How a man can tell the front of his hat from the back?

Why a man beams so proudly, when you are enumerating his wrongs, as though you had presented him with a bouquet or medal?

Why men are so nice—and captivating?

Champion At 42 Years

Zbyszko, Wrestler, Stays Young On Exercise, Fresh Vegetables, Little Meat And Much Buttermilk

BY DIANA RICE

The famous pathologist who said that a man's achievement after forty was negligible should spend an our in the society of Stanislaus Cyzaniewicz, the forty-two-year-old Pole who today holds the record of the world in wrestling. Mr. Cyzaniewicz, usually called Zbyszko (pronounced Zabisco), refuses to be interested in, or cajoled into, talking about the infirmities of forty. For him they do not exist. They are a chimera built up by the lazy, the dissipated, the indolent-minded. Man's life is as long as he will make it. It is a matter of daily exercise and fresh vegetables.

"Have you no dissipations?" was asked of Zbyszko the other afternoon.

"Yes, strawberry short-cake," replied the giant, smiling.

And Zbyszko's smile is something to talk about, something to take note of. It's an index to the man's whole nature. A kindly, serious, illuminating radiance that spreads slowly over his high forehead, kindling his brownish eyes, and losing itself in the sensitiveness of his strong chin. It is not a fatuous smile or a weak one. It disappears quickly when a question is asked him, leaving him thoughtful, alert. Zybszko's embarrassed silences are forgotten when he smiles.

"Are there other wrestlers of your age still in good fighting form?"

"Pardon, we say wrestling form, not 'fighting' form," answered Zbyszko, and followed the questioner from the elevator landing into his manager's office. "Yes," he continued, "there is one, older by ten years—Farmer Burns."

"When did he retire?"

"At the age of 47. He is now 52 and still a very good wrestler."

Older sporting men will remember Farmer Burns, who, on his retirement from the wrestling ring, opened a training school in Colorado for the tired business man, the fat man, the athlete. He teaches the sons of luxury as well as the more serious minded, how to add twenty years to their lives by systematic training. At the age of 52 he is still able, so his admirers say, to give younger wrestlers a good run for their money.

"Are there any other old wrestlers in the different countries where you have been?"

"Perhaps in Japan, but I am not sure," said Zbyszko. "I have not been there. But not in any of the other countries."

The forty-two-year-old champion takes his new laurels modestly. He is not talkative. In fact, it is difficult to get him to tell the simplest facts about his early life and training. He takes his profession seriously and works hard. He starts his day between 8 and 9 with a breakfast of fruit, cereals, milk and bread. Then he walks for an hour or two, and later takes forty minutes' technical exercises. Dinner is at 3, and consists of soup, a little fish, plenty of fresh vegetables and milk. A supper of bread and milk is eaten after the evening's performance, if there is one. Zbyszko does not drink or smoke; he never has. He smiles in a bewildered sort of way when any one mentions prohibition. He knows nothing of the joys of cocktails out of bouillon cups, nothing of the tingle of grape juice out of heavy china bowls. He likes the country, and spends most of his time at Oyster Bay, Me., where he has a farm.

Stanislaus Cyzaniewicz was born in Jodlowa, Poland, not far from Krakow, the ancient capital. His schooling started at one of the famous sokols, notable for their physical training rather than their academic work. At the age of 18 he took part in his first amateur bout in his home town. At 21 he made his first professional appearance in Charlottenburg, Germany. Since that time he has wrestled his way nearly around the world. He is looking forward to visiting the countries he has so far missed—Japan, China, South America and Australia.

"How young did you begin to fight?"

Zbyszko thought a minute, smiled and said: "Oh, I was a bad little boy. I fight at 5 years. I whip all the other boys."

"Will you keep on wrestling, now that the championship is yours?"

"Yes, I always wrestle—always."

"You do not feel that your age is a handicap?"

"I feel better now than I ever did. It is not—" The big man hesitated, evidently searching for an English word. "Forty is not old," he finished.

The champion says he thinks the American wrestler is the best wrestler in the world. He foretells great progress in the sport. His habit of wrestling in bare feet has now many followers. It is no longer confined to the Japanese and Chinese wrestlers. When asked about his famous "turtle defense," he said:

"It was necessary in this catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling. In Europe the Greco-Roman style is used. No striking below the belt."

"Is the American game speedy?"

"The fastest in the world," Zbyszko replied.

He went on to tell of his nervousness the other night before his encounter with Ed Lewis. Even after the first few minutes he was not confident of winning. It had been a hard struggle, and he was nervous right up to the last. It was hard to explain the feeling, but it was a "shaking inside."

Just now Zbyszko is worrying about his mother and sisters in Poland, from whom he has not heard for a long time. He speaks reminiscently of old Poland, of the tournaments lasting two and three months—wrestling, boxing, fencing, games of prowess and skill. He stressed the greater amount of sentiment toward sports in that part of the world, manifesting itself in the striving for medals, trophy belts and silver cups, rather than money prizes. These games and sports were necessary to the health of any country, he observed.

"Then your message to all forty-five-year-olds is——?"

"More exercise, more fresh vegetables, less meat, drink much buttermilk," he replied. "I live that way, and I have not been sick one day in my life—not one day."

He said good-bye in true European fashion, bowing his huge shoulders low over the head of the departing guest.

"WESTMINSTER SPECIALS."

After a dinner party the late Sir W. S. Gilbert (Gilbert and Sullivan) was standing in the hall waiting for a friend to join him when a short-sighted old gentleman, mistaking him for one of the servants, said: "Call me a cab!"

The Wit looked him up and down and then quietly observed: "You're a fourwheeler."

The old gentleman turned on him wrathfully, How dare you, Sir? What do you mean?"

"Well," retorted Gilbert, "you asked me to call you a cab—and I couldn't call you 'hansom.'"

Sidney Smith asked a child once why she stroked the shell of a tortoise.

"Oh, to please the tortoise, Sir," replied the little maid.

"Why, my dear, you might as well stroke the dome of St. Pauls to please the Dean and Chapter."

(It is a delightful reply, and so was the little girl's, so redolent of the tenderness and fragrance of childhood).

Attractions At The Theaters

A dramatic event of particular importance for Shanghai will be the presentation of Mr. D. W. Griffith's latest picture, "The Idol Dancer" which is to open tomorrow night at the Olympic Theater for an engagement of four nights. The story that is unfolded on the screen has its setting amid the palms of the romantic south seas. It is a gripping tale of adventure with a strong love theme woven into a wholly novel plot. In addition to the feature picture the program will include also a number of vaudeville specialties.

One of the best screen offerings of current bills is "The Lady in Grey" which is to be shown tonight, tomorrow and Sunday at the Apollo theater. The production is a mystery drama of first quality built up from the story of the same name in the novel by George Ohnet. The opening portions of the great serial story, "The Count of Monte Cristo" will be shown at the Apollo Saturday afternoon matinee and the feature of the program to be shown at the Sunday matinee will be Mabel Normand in "Sis Hopkins."

Charles Chaplin's latest great picture "The Kid" is scoring a big success at the Victoria theater and will be shown tonight and tomorrow. The production marks a notable departure for the comedian as the story told is not one of unmixed comedy, but a human drama with a strong note of pathos. Incidentally it introduces young Jackie Coogan, a talented youngster who makes his screen debut in "The Kid."

"Experimental Marriage" is the new offering for the week-end at the Isis theater and as the title suggests the story is filled with a number of wholly novel possibilities, all of which are developed in the action of the production. The picture brings back to Shanghai the ever-popular star Constance Talmadge.

The return engagement of the H. B. Waring Company will begin at the Lyceum theater tomorrow and the opening offering, for Saturday and also for Monday will be the great play "Trilby." On Tuesday "A Marriage of Convenience" will be played and on Wednesday night a program of three one-act plays will be presented. These are "The Screen Scene," from the "School for Scandal," "The Girl," a sensational comedy and "My Taylor," another comedy.

"The Blood Barrier," a thrilling six-part drama, is the feature of the program at St. George's open air cinema and will be shown tonight, tomorrow and Sunday. Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon appear as co-stars in the production. The bill also includes a "Snub" Pollard comedy and the Pathe British news pictures.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their freight market report of yesterday:

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

TO UNITED KINGDOM AND CONTINENT

There has been a slight improvement in the demand for space since we last reported and recent sailings have left with their Shanghai space allotments better filled; exports, however, seem still to be moving on a "hand to mouth" basis and there is little forward demand.

TO U. S. VIA PACIFIC AND VIA PANAMA AND SUEZ

We have nothing to add to the remarks in our last issue and cargo continues as scarce as ever.

COASTWISE

The improvements anticipated in our last issue, as regards the North, has materialised to a certain extent and a fairly demand exists for prompt loading but the River trade remains quiet.
